It's been another busy week in the final week of a very long half term! I have been showing around prospective parents all week whilst dodging showers and gale force winds! Can I remind everyone, that we do go out for breaktimes in all weathers. Please send your child in clothes fit for the weather forecast- a number of them were wearing bin bags to keep dry on Tuesday! Waterproofs can be left in school. All children really need welly boots too as the field is getting muddy.

Last week, we were offered the chance to rehome a small herd of five guinea pigs. Of course we said yes! Over the half term break, I will be converting one of the sheds into a guinea pig palace with outdoor access. Arctic Foxes will be the main guinea pig guardians though once they feel more confident in their new home, we will offer all children the opportunity to interact with them. All donations of guinea pig food, fresh vegetables and hay would be gratefully received. A risk assessment will go up on the website shortly.

On Wednesday, Clare and I completed our training session on our new website. It's looking very shiny and we are looking forward to updating it with new photos, video clips and information. Clare will be contacting you to ensure that we have the correct permissions for this. We are hoping that the redesign will be more appealing and user friendly so that it can be your one stop shop for information.

Have a lovely break. We look forward to welcoming you back on 4th November.
